Inspired by the cross section of a tree trunk

The Gaia Center Table is the kind of piece that deprives itself from the most common forms, as well as carrying a bit of nature to the space of your home. Its entire structure is made out of fiberglass lacquered in bronze color, where the center is lacquered in gold with a glass or high-gloss walnut root top. Just perfect as a center table or a coffee table.

Karpa portrays a line of excellence furniture essentially to high decoration, where detail, luxury and art are some of the features shared by all of the products that turn them into something truly unique and valuable. With its form inspired by a cross section of a tree trunk, this coffee table will certainly be the kind of piece that deprives itself from the most common forms, carrying a bit of nature to the space of your home. The entire structure is made out of fiberglass lacquered in bronze color with its center lacquered in gold color and a glass or high-gloss walnut root top. www.albinmiranda.pt ■
